THE NOISELESS
NAPIER,
THE PROVED BEST CAR.

"TATLER," 13th November, 1912, writes of NAPIER Cars:

"The acme of perfection of design and finish."

"BYSTANDER," 6th November, 1912, writes of NAPIER Cars:

"It is a wise policy that leaves the cheap vehicles to fight out their own salvation and develop a distinct type of car, in which price is subservient to the requirements of high grade."

With the British instinct for good work Messrs. D Napier & Sons have, from the first, devoted all their attention to manufacturing real good cars. They have made quality paramount to all considerations.

To the motorist or would-be motorist of restricted means, we would remind them that it is the upkeep expenditure on a car which has to be considered and which really hurts. So do not forget that cars turned out purely "at a price" are not the most economical. NAPIER means proved economy in upkeep and a car obtainable at a moderate price, the special feature being

LOW PETROL CONSUMPTION;
LOW LUBRICATION COST;
LOW COST OF TYRES;
NO COST FOR REPAIRS.

All intelligent motorists appreciate these points.

If you regard motoring as the nearest approach to Heaven on earth, the luxurious NAPIER will even more than demonstrate such an idea.

We will be pleased to give demonstrations to any prospective purchaser on application to

THE OUTLOOK IN THE BALKANS.

THE outlook in the Balkans is again dark, and Europe generally is prepared for the resumption of hostilities, which may occur at any moment. The possibility of the interference of cross influences in the settlement of the issues raised, was suggested by us a fortnight ago; and about the same time one London journal openly stated that the conference would not end in peace. The difficulties of the situation are strikingly illustrated by Italy's latest action. Here is the nation which up until a few months ago was at war with Turkey, now siding with her former enemies against their Christian foes, and advising the Turks to retain their hold of the islands of the Ægean as long as they can. Few will impute insincerity to Italy or believe that the Italian government is animated by any but good motives; and the only fair comment upon this advice is that no one seems to know how to act. Turkish co-operation is necessary to Italy in the pacification of Tripoli and in the conservation of Italian interests in the Levant, just as the existence of the Turkish Empire is necessary to Europe and to Bulgaria itself. No one wishes to expel the Turks from Constantinople and the shores of the Sea of Marmora; and no one, not even Russia, desires to take Turkey's place on the Bosphorus at this crisis. It is probably the perception of this difficulty rather than the secret offer of help from any source, that has stiffened Turkey's back and encouraged the Porte to resist the demands of the Allies. Adrianople is the nominal rock of contention. In itself it is to the Turks of sufficient importance to warrant even a fresh appeal to arms. Here, in their first European capital, are the tombs of their Sultans and the monuments of their empire at the zenith of its power; and next to Constantinople it is the last place they would wish to surrender. But at the present time Adrianople represents something far greater than a coign of vantage in a campaign. The forces of Europe and practically of the world are ranged about it, and the question of its possession by Bulgaria or by Turkey may quickly develope into a great and murderous war. The Turks, with their keen diplomatic faculties, have grasped the whole situation as well as any one else, and with their usual cleverness they are pressing their advantages home.

Whether they will stand up to the Bulgarians and the Servians again, few really know. They have used the long period of the armistice to strengthen the Chatalja defences and to equip and bring up troops from Asia Minor, and in appearance they are preparing to join battle again. But unless they hope to embroil the powers and to precipitate a European war, they have nothing to gain and much to lose by continuing the conflict. They cannot advance against the allied forces; Adrianople will fall and Thrace be lost; and all they can do will be to keep the Bulgarians at bay. For the allies, too, have used their opportunity. Their troops are rested and refitted; the veterans have been drawn from Macedonia, where the struggle, in any case, is over; and if the Bulgars have to fight again, they will fight with the savagery that exasperation begets. If the Turks are convinced that no one will come to their aid, they may give in at the last moment; and that is all that can now be said.

The powers to whom they look for sympathy, if not for active support, are naturally the members of the Triple Alliance. Austria has already lost so much by this war that suspicion of her moves and motives might be expected in people less interested than the Turks; and is, therefore, quite natural to them. The wish is father to the thought; for there is nothing in the attitude of the Austrian Government to justify belief in any underhand dealings. A great nation does not and cannot stoop to double-dealing, and Austria has pledged herself to work with the Powers. But a Government cannot pledge the sympathies of its people; and there is among the Germans and Magyars of the Austrian Empire, a strong feeling of resentment against the Slavonic nations, big and little, which might speedily burst forth. There has never been a time in Europe since Waterloo, when the future was so unsettled and the balance of power so unstable as at this minute. There are twenty million Slavs included among the heterogeneous peoples of the empire of the Hapsburg, and the disruption of the whole empire might happen, if Austria went to war. That is one risk which we may be certain is not concealed from watchful eyes in Berlin. But the contrary risk which grows bigger every day, is apparent to the Austrians themselves. They have now felt the pressure. Slavism has crossed their path and barred their road to the Ægean; and as they contemplate the growth of the Danubian states, and see in the distance the rapid increase of the Russian people, it is little wonder that they view the future with anxiety or that many of them wish to hasten the inevitable conflict now, when the chances are on their side. Every year, it is believed, the vast population of Russia grows at such a rate, that in a few years there will be three hundred millions under the dominion of the Tsars. Slavdom will then have become a menace to Europe, and to Austria most of all. For the present against this darkening sky, Europe can reassure itself by the knowledge that the government of neither Austria nor Russia wishes war, and that both are striving for peace.

RESEARCH WORK IN INDIA.

INDIAN gentlemen are never tired of urging that their country had a civilization and a literature long before Europe emerged from the dark ages, and that the Indian intellect is superior to that of the European. Of these propositions the first is to some extent true, but is liable to exaggeration. The date of the Vedas and the dates of the Mahabharata and Ramayana are unknown, and scholars differ by thousands of years in their estimates. The golden age of Sanskrit literature was quite late. Moreover the civilization of Hindu India and of Greece, both sprang from the same source. Indian learning is not and never was a phenomenon so far removed from Occidental learning as say Chinese or Egyptian learning was from both. With regard to the second proposition, the world and the nations of the future must inevitably judge by results. What have the Indians of the present day done in any branch of learning? Sanskrit literature is a vast tradition greater in bulk than the literatures of Greece and Rome, but certainly not superior to them. It would, indeed, be difficult to compare them, since both contain works perfect in their own particular form. But Sanskrit literature is a thing of the past, and whereas the European nations have assimilated the culture of the classical countries, passed out beyond them, and built up a learning, an art, and a literature of infinite extent and variety, India has done nothing of the kind. The vernacular languages contain a good deal of admirable indigenous verse, such as the Mediæval European ports wrote. But this indigenous verse is also dead. The only verse written now is as unreal and unrational as a book of translations into Latin Elegiacs and Greek Iambics by an Oxford Don. It consists of stilted panegyrics on English Royalties and Administrators, occasional nature poems in Sanskritic meter and form, and a few hums of a somewhat commonplace type penned by the followers of the Brahmo and other Samajes. There never has been any vernacular prose worthy of the name. Philosophy, in which subject, if in no other, the earlier Indians outshone the giants of the West, is hardly studied at all. Art is gone. For indigenous Oriental music has been substituted the hideous "nangatai band." In pure science and in the practical and mechanical sciences, Indians have seldom excelled. In law alone the Indian appears to hold his own. And yet how few original works on law in either its practical or its theoretical side have been written by Indian legalists? In all branches of learning the Indians who can be honoured as masters are few and far between. Who have edited Sanskrit books? Who have traced the development of Indian religions? Who have explored the fauna, flora, and geology of India? Who have elucidated the events of past ages in this continent? Who have explored the unknown countries that border on it? Who have worked out the best ways of building bridges and digging canals in it? In every case, the answer is Europeans. Indians have been of use as stepping stones towards learning, as subordinates to prepare jantras and draw maps for engineers, as carriers and coolies in the fields of knowledge. But hardly any have been great originators, or explorers and pioneers in any field. Whence then this supercilious parade of superior intellectual ability? The world will inevitably, must inevitably judge their intellects by their results. O ye sons of the land of Bharata! You are being left behind, and not by the arrogant Englishman alone. All the Western nations are working in the field in which your intellects should excel. The best Sanskrit grammar was written by an American. The biggest Sanskrit lexicon was prepared by Germans, and printed in Russia. Some of the finest exploration work has been done by a Scandinavian. The flora of your country has been largely investigated by Austrian and Dutch Jesuits. Even your philosophy is being expounded by a German metaphysician. And you are content to earn your college-degrees and close your minds again like used up boxes. Where are the descendants of Kalidasa, Sankaracharya, and Mallinath?

DEAN OF ROCHESTER.

THE late Dean Lane was, for a long time, connected with the diocese of Lichfield in his own county of Stafford, and only went to Rochester late in life when he was nearing his seventieth year. Promotion came to him very slowly, and he was several times passed over in favour of younger men. He greatly assisted the late Archbishop Maclagan when he was Bishop of Lichfield in administering that diocese and had hopes of succeeding him when in 1891, he was translated to the archiepiscopal See of York; but a younger man, Dr. Legge, a scion of the noble house of Dartmouth, got the See. When in the succeeding year the deanery of Lichfield fell vacant on the death of Edward Bickersteth, he was again passed over, though not in favour of a younger man, for Dr. Luckock was three years his senior. It was not till 1904, when he was nearly seventy, that he became Dean of Rochester in succession to the well-known Dean Hole, another ecclesiastic, to whom promotion came very slowly as he became Dean at the same advanced age as Dr. Lane, and died at the age of eighty-five without rising any higher. At Rochester, Dean Lane continued his predecessor's work of restoration of the Cathedral, going on throughout the last century and the present tower and spire, which reproduces the former tower of the fourteenth century with its short spire, and which Hole had commenced was completed under him. The original Cathedral was the most ancient in England next after Canterbury, and was founded by St. Augustine himself at the beginning of the seventh century when he first established Christianity in the land. The deanery of Rochester was held for the unusually long period of fifty years by a predecessor of the late Dean, Dr. Stevens, who was otherwise undistinguished. But his immediate successor (1870), Dean Scott, was an eminent scholar whose name is inseparately associated with that of another dean, Liddell, as the authors of the widely-used Greek lexicon which has held its own for more than half a century, and driven all previous rivals out of the field. Scott was also the Master of Balliol College, Oxford, for a short time before Jowett. The famous exponent of Higher Criticism, Dr. Cheyne, was for several years under Dean Lane as Canon, but he resigned his stall in 1708. Dean Lane came of a family which has been long well-known in Staffordshire, and was a direct descendant of Col. John Lane, a noted Royalist, whose sister, Jane Lane, attained great notability in the time of Charles II, by heroically and successfully achieving the escape of that merry monarch after the battle of Worcester in 1651. Prince Charles, as he then was, was in hiding at Moseley and communicating with Col. Lane for his escape, when Jane undertook to take him disguised as her man-servant to Bristol, and they passed through Cromwell's soldiers without being recognised. After several vicissitudes, she brought the prince to a place of safety among friends whence he was enabled to pass over to France. This signal service was afterwards amply rewarded at the Restoration, and Jane got a large pension and several costly presents, some of which are still with the family of Dean Lane. But a gold watch presented by Charles with the request that it might be served as an heirloom to every eldest daughter of the Lane family, was stolen by burglars from a former heiress of Lane and is no longer extant.

M. POINCARE.

THE step, which M. Poincare appears about to take—that from Prime Minister to President—is a notable and unusual one, but at the same time a step which has been expected from him by many of his admirers. He is undoubtedly a man of high ability and lofty ambition. This ambition is as much patriotic as self-interested and should he become the President. We shall doubtless find him making astute, though never aggressive, efforts to give to his native country a still higher place among the nations. It is curious, however, that in spite of his desire for high office, he declined twice to form a Ministry before he was persuaded only a few days more than a year ago, to become Prime Minister of France. Like the Prime Minister of England, he is a lawyer, and is still in the prime of life, being only 52 years of age. He became a deputy at the early age of 27, and within five years he had obtained a place in the Cabinet as Minister of Public Instruction. Later he was Minister of Finance and Vice-President of the Chamber, which is equivalent to Chairman of Committees in the House of Commons. When twelve months ago, he formed his Ministry, the list of members of his Cabinet was acknowledged to contain some of the strongest brains in France, and it was regarded as a testimony to M. Poincare's influence with his colleagues, that he should have induced M. Leon Bourgeois, who had been twice Prime Minister, to accept the thankless post of Minister of Labour. He himself, like Lord Salisbury, united the Premiership with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and throughout the anxious months which have followed, he has abundantly proved his ability. M. Poincare is a scholarly man, a Member of the French Academy, and a student and admirer of English authors. On the other hand, English people have a grateful remembrance of his eloquent appreciations last April of the characters of Queen Victoria and King Edward VII.

THE Commander-in-Chief is paying a short visit to Bikaner this week.

THE many friends and admirers of the Hon. Mr. M. S. Srinivasa Sastri, of the Servants of India Society, entertained him in honour of his nomination to the Madras Legislative Council at an influentially attended public meeting held on Saturday, at the Victoria Town Hall, Madras. The meeting was thoroughly representative of all classes and communities in the city, those present including the Hon. Sir John Atkinson, the Hon. Mr. Gokhale, the Hon. Mr. P. S. Sivaswamy Iyer, Sir Murray Hammick, Sir Valentine Chirol, Sir V. C. Desikachariar, and others.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

HERR VON KIDERLEN-WAECHTER.

President of France.

INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL MATCH.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, JAN. 4.

THE death of Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, the German Imperial Secretary for Foreign Affairs, at his native town of Stuttgart at the age of 60, is perhaps the most noteworthy event of the week this side the channel. On his appointment to office in June, 1910, he was described as one of the most efficient members of the Diplomatic Service. It was further noted that a piquant interest attached to his appointment, since for 17 years he had been banned the Court, and as the details of his disagreement with his Sovereign have frequently been incorrectly given, it is as well to repeat the facts. "The incident occurred in August, 1893, when Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, who was then the Kaiser's chosen friend and confident, and was already regarded as Germany's coming diplomatist, was attached to the Imperial suite as official representative of the German Foreign Office during the Emperor's visit to Cowes in July, 1893. During this visit his Majesty (so the story runs) received a letter from Queen Victoria, who was then at Balmoral, relating, the details of the dispute which had arisen between Great Britain and France concerning Siam, and which had assumed a serious aspect. The Emperor showed this letter to the Prince of Wales, afterwards Edward VII., and discussed the possibility of war breaking out between Great Britain and France, and, in so doing, gave offence, it is said, to several distinguished Englishmen who heard the conversation. His Majesty was accustomed at that earlier period of his reign to utter his opinions more freely than is now the case. Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, who knew exactly what was happening, sought a private audience of his Majesty, when he told his Sovereign what he thought was the true situation. The result was unfortunate for Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter. He did not see the Emperor again until he was summoned to Berlin to act as Baron von Schoen's substitute during the later's illness." Nearly sixteen years had elapsed, and the diplomatist had spent his time at minor capitals, first at Copenhagen and afterwards at Bukarest.

His real chance came, however, through the Bosnian difficulties in 1909, when he was temporarily taking Baron von Schoen's place. He had acquired a vast knowledge of Balkan politics while at Bukarest and in his earlier days at the Embassy in Constantinople, and in addition, he showed himself to possess an iron resolution. Germany's triumph at that time of crisis was to a great extent due to him, and it was not surprising that he should be presently chosen to occupy permanently the post, at which he had so distinguished himself. As a young man he had fought in the Franco-German War, and he had been brought up in Bismarck's school of diplomacy, which taught a certain amount of not very diplomatic truculence. He had not been afraid to risk the Kaiser's anger, so it is not altogether surprising that in some of his dealings with foreign nations there was rather more of the mailed fist than of the velvet glove. The despatch of the Panther to Agadir, which resulted in such serious international complications, was a display which may be taken as characteristic of the man, but it is only fair to add that during the last few months he acted happily in concert with the other Powers on the question of the Near East, which, no doubt, he understood far better than the average diplomatist. His death at the present moment is certainly a blow to Germany, and her allies, and, it may be, to the rest of Europe.

BARON V. WANGENHEIM'S PROBABLE SUCCESSOR.

The long list of names of those thought to be possible successors to the post Imperial Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has dwindled down to three. It is now thought that Baron von Wangenheim, Ambassador at Constantinople, is the most probable nominee, though it should be remarked that none more than the Kaiser enjoys upsetting general predictions. On the other hand, the room for choice, unlike the case of the appointment of an Ambassador, is limited by the conviction in the German diplomatic service that the nominee must have the fullest experience, especially in regard to late developments.

Herr Zimmermann, the present Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, whose nomination was favoured by Herr von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor in the first instance, begged to withdraw his name on the grounds of health. The same reason probably stands in the way of the appointment of Baron von Mum a personal antagonist of Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter who left his post at Tokio on the entry of the late Secretary into the Wilhelmstrasse. Baron von Mumm is now in Berlin but the visit had been arranged before the death of Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter. Herr von Jagow, Ambassador in Rome, a capable diplomatist, who was thought to be the favourite for the post three days ago, is now judged to be too brusque in manner and also too uncertain in health to satisfy the needs of modern diplomacy, which essentially demand endurance and finesse. Both he and Baron von Mumm, however, remain possible nominees, with Baron von Wangenheim as the favourite. The "Tagliche Rundschau," which, though mistaken in forecasting Herr von Stumm for the London Embassy, is probably better able to forecast the decisions of the Court than any other journal, says that, save for a surprise, Baron von Wangenheim is a sure nomination. This choice would undoubtedly be approved in many quarters. Baron von Wangenheim has an excellent diplomatic manner, and is said to be one of the few diplomatists to-day, who has the so-called "diplomatic temperament." He is a personal friend of the Kaiser, which is always an asset in German Ministers, and the absence of which often militated against the complete success of Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE.

The place of honour in all the Paris newspapers is given to the announcement that after having been pressed by numerous senators and deputies and other political friends, M. Poincare, the Premier, has consented to be officially nominated as a candidate for the Presidency. It may be remembered that up to quite lately very general efforts, in which M. Poincare himself joined, were made to induce M. Leon Bourgeois, the Minister for Labour, to accept candidature, which he only definitely declined last week. His refusal led to most of those who had approached him to turn to M. Poincare, and to insist on the advisability of his clearly stating his intention to stand, as, although several political personages were known to be coveting the honour, none except M. Ribot had signified their wish openly. As only twenty days separate us from the Versailles election, this state of uncertainty was judged to be extremely prejudicial to the interests of the country. Now that M. Poincare has set the example there is little doubt that several others will immediately follow, and M. Ribot has already published a statement that the entrance into the lists of M. Poincare will not affect his candidature, which he still maintains. M. Dubost, President of the Senate, although he has repulsed so far all attempts to extract information, may be considered an almost certain entry, and M. Deschanel, President of the Chamber, is also looked upon as sure to come forward at the last moment, though, as the presidency of the Chamber lapses in the week preceding the Versailles election, his position is somewhat delicate, and should he pose for candidature forthwith, he might lose his parliamentary dignity without gaining the greater one. It is noteworthy that the three most favoured candidates—M. Poincare, M. Ribot, and M. Deschanel—are all members of the Academy. Other names much mentioned are those of M. Delcasse, the Minister of Marine, M. Dubost and M. Pams, and so strange are the under currents of French political life that it is by no means impossible that some new favourite may arise at the eleventh hour carrying away the prize out of the dissensions which always exist on private personal grounds amongst friends of the most pre-eminent and suitable personages. As one newspaper observes although at Versailles there will be many senators and deputies who will not vote for M. Poincare, there will be none who will deny that he possesses the private and public qualities necessary to make him a truly worthy representative of France. These, however, will not ensure his or any other man's election and the country will have to be satisfied with a choice not always made without parliamentary and private political influences.

FOOTBALL RIOT IN PARIS.

Out of the 20,000 people who lined the Parc des Princes on New Year's day to witness the Rugby football match between France and Scotland, not 5 per cent. probably had the slightest idea of what was good or bad, lawful or unlawful play; but this is scarcely an excuse for the disgraceful scene at the close of the match. There had been much booing and hissing of the decisions of the referee, Mr. J. Baxter, of the English Rugby Union, throughout the second half, and immediately the whistle sounded for the cessation of play a squad of mounted Municipal Guards galloped across the ground and closed round the visiting team and the referee, being assisted by a regiment of soldiers. The mob, however, instantly broke bounds, and pursued the Scotsmen and their escort into the shelter of the dressing-rooms, pelting unfortunate Mr. Baxter with stones and striking him with sticks as if he were a mad dog. Orders were given to the cavalry to charge, and amidst a scene of wild and savage disorder the Velodrome was evacuated. Mr. Baxter was somewhat severely hurt. In the match after Scotland had kicked off the centre of the ground became a kaleidoscopic view of blue scarlet, and white, now forming an open-pattern grouped round a small scrummaging dome of backs and arms, now lengthening out as the players lined up. It was not long before the Frenchmen were able to score a try, to the unbounded delight of their compatriots, who rent the air with shrill applause; but though the scarlet legs seemed at first to get over the ground rather the quicker, the blue somehow contrived always to be in time to prevent much damage. Very strong combination enabled the Scotsmen to gain two tries, one of which was converted, and half-time showed the score 8—3 points in Scotland's favour. From the moment the game was resumed, however, a number of unruly spirits imagined that the referee was giving partial decisions, and whenever a Franchman was given "offside" the penalty was greeted with "booing," which soon grew almost universal. Whenever the game surged near the edge of the ground the din became almost intolerable. The French players themselves seemed to make no complaint, but their friends or too patriotic partisans lost all control of their tempers as tries and goals rewarded the business-like precision of the Scots. When only a few minutes remained some students set up the cry, "Conspuez l'arbitre" ("Down with the referee!"). And this threatening chorus rolled and rumbled around the huge field like thunder. These signs of the rising storm had prepared the authorities for prompt action when the match was over but even so they were not successful in affording Mr. Baxter complete protection as he ran the gauntlet to the dressing-room.

ATTACK ON REFEREE CONDEMNED.

The attack upon Mr. John Baxter aroused general indignation in France, and is the subject of comment in several of the French newspapers, most of which agree in deploring the unfortunate incident. Several of the best judges, such as M. Franz Reichel, of the "Figaro," say that Mr. Baxter umpired with perfect impartiality, and certainly neither Mr. Baxter nor any member of either team imagined that such ill-feeling had been aroused by the frequent faults of the French players and the consequent penalties. Happily Mr. Baxter was not really hurt, and only one of the team had his face cut with a stone, whereas a good many of the assailants were pretty roughly handled by the police.

At the banquet in the evening, the best of good fellowship prevailed, and Mr. Baxter said he should forget the unfortunate incident. He paid a high tribute to the French players which has gone far to allay the bad temper displayed and is published in most of the evening newspapers. Mr Baxter said the Scottish team had enormous luck, which served as their "best player."

The "Figaro" says that Mr. Baxter's actions as referee did not please the public, but this did not mean that his conduct justified the unworthy demonstration against a sportsman and a gentleman made by a section of the public. The "Matin" says it is harder to discipline 25,000 spectators—25,000 fanatics—than to control a few hundred partisans. The "Auto" says this is the first time such an incident has occurred on a French football ground, and that all true sportsmen will regret it. The receipts from the match amount to £1,640, and constitute a record for France.

DESPERATE POLITICAL DUEL.

A sword duel of an unusually desperate character took place on Thursday, at Budapest between Count Tisza, the ex-Premier, and now President of the Lower House of the Hungarian Diet, and Count Michael Karolyi, one of the Opposition leaders. The cause was an altercation between the two the previous day in a club. Under the conditions drawn up by the seconds, the duel was to go on till death or disablement. The duellists are both active men, inured to sport, but Count Karolyi had the advantage of being 15 years younger than Count Tisza.

Both are expert fencers, and the encounter was fought with great energy, but no fewer than 32 rounds were necessary to bring about a decision, Count Tisza's sword then inflicting a severe wound on his opponent's head and breast. Count Tisza himself received only a slight scratch.

PORTE'S REPLY TO THE NOTE.

DRAFT BEFORE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.

Reasons for Retention of Adrianople.

CONDITIONAL SUPPORT OF EUROPE.

Turkey's Future Resources in Danger.

STATEMENTS OF CLAIMS BY THE ALLIES.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, JAN. 17.

The Note of the Powers was presented this afternoon.

LONDON, JAN. 17.

M. Jonescu, the Rumanian Minister of the Interior, is returning to Bukharest. The question at issue with Bulgaria is still not settled, but M. Mishu will continue negotiations with Dr. Daneff.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

The Powers' Note has been presented at Constantinople. It draws the attention of the Porte to the grave responsibility of preventing the re-establishment of peace by resisting their counsels. The Porte will only have itself to blame if the prolongation of the war jeopardises Constantinople, and extends hostilities into the Asiatic provinces. The Powers, therefore, advise Turkey to cede Adrianople, and to leave the Powers to decide the fate of the Ægean Islands, and to assure respect for the Moslem edifices at Adrianople.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

The Note of the Powers has caused a most unfavourable impression among the Turkish delegates in London.

It is believed in Paris that the Turkish reply will be uncompromising on the subject of Adrianople.

THE TASK LEFT TO TURKEY.

The Note contains one significant passage intimating that if Turkey hopes to obtain the moral and material support of Europe, to repair the evils of the war and to develop her vast Asiatic territories, the prosperity of which will constitute Turkey's most effective resource, she must defer to the counsels of the Powers.

The Ambassadors have decided that Mount Athos shall be regarded as an independent ecclesiastical republic.

THE CASE FOR ADRIANOPLE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, JAN. 19.

Noradunghian Bay, Minister for Foreign Affairs, has submitted to the Council of Ministers the draft of the reply to the Note of the Powers.

It is understood that the Note insists on the retention of Adrianople, because the Bulgarian inhabitants of the town are in the minority, because of the splendid defence of the garrison, and because the loss of Adrianople, containing the mosques of the Caliphs, would ruin the prestige of Islam. Moreover, Adrianople is the gate of Constantinople, and its loss would endanger the existence of the Empire. Therefore the Note prays the Powers to make representations to the Balkan States with a view to peace.

With regard to the Archipelago, the Porte refuses to give up the coast islands, although it is ready to negotiate with reference to the others.

MONTENEGRO'S CLAIMS.

LONDON, JAN. 19.

The Montenegrin peace mission on Friday presented to Sir Edward Grey, and the Ambassadors of the Powers in London, a memorandum explaining why Scutari, Ipek and Prizrend should be annexed to Montenegro; and declaring that Montenegro would rather disappear as a political factor in the Balkans than renounce her claims.

The memorandum is accompanied by a map showing the extent of territory claimed by Montenegro.

It is understood that the other Balkan missions are preparing similar statements.

VIENNA JAN, 18.

Count von Berchtold sent a telegram inviting M. Jonescu, the Rumanian minister of the Interior, to visit him while on his way to Bucharest, but M. Jonescu yesterday evening traversed Vienna without interrupting his journey.

ALLEGED MASSACRES OF MUSSULMANS

Several influential Turkish Senators have appealed to King George, declaring that massacres of Mussulmans continue in Macedonia in spite of the Armistice, and asking the British Government to co-operate with the other Cabinets in inviting the Balkan States to observe the principles of universal morality. A similar appeal has been made to other Sovereigns.

A deputation, representing the Jewish communities of France, Germany and Great Britain, has arrived in Sofia with large quantities of provisions and clothing for distribution among the Jews of Adrianople, after the siege is over.

BULGARIAN WAR LOSSES.

A message to the Times from Sofia states that the Bulgarians have lost 284 officers killed and 876 officers wounded and sick, and 21,018 men killed, and 51,000 men wounded and sick.

It is stated that seventy per cent. of the wounded have recovered or are recovering.

There were 35,000 cholera patients at Chatalja, but the deaths numbered only 3,000.

It is officially announced in Athens that the entrance to the harbour at Pireus is mined, and that no ships will be allowed to enter or leave except between seven in the morning and five in the evening, and then only with pilot on board.

LONDON, JAN. 19.

An official despatch from the Commander of the Turkish Fleet confirms the report that it was the "Hamidieh" and not the "Medjidieh" that attacked Syra. The despatch says that the Turkish vessel destroyed the powder magazine at Syra and also the Greek auxiliary cruiser.

A SEA FIGHT.

ATHENS, JAN. 19.

After an all-night reconnaissance by the "Hamidieh" and a destroyer, the whole of the Turkish fleet left the Dardanelles yesterday morning, and steamed in the direction of Lemnos. The Greek fleet immediately steamed to the attack. After fighting for an hour the Turks fled. The Greeks pursued them, but after a two-hours running fight the Turks re-entered the Straits. The Greeks lost one man wounded. It is believed that several Turkish ships were damaged.

FRENCH PRESIDENCY.

M. Poincare Republican Candidate.

CABINET RESIGNS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.

VERSAILLES, JAN. 17.

Enormous crowds gathered for the Congress here to-day. M. Pams and M. Clemenceau had to fight their way into the building.

A madman caused considerable excitement by flourishing a large revolver. He was arrested.

Then there was another sensation owing to an announcement that M. Poincare was sending his seconds to M. Clemenceau, considering that the latter had written him was an insulting letter. There were some noisy interruptions within the Congress itself, Royalists and Socialists cheering and counter-cheering.

At the first ballot, M. Poincare obtained 429 votes, and M. Pams 327. M. Poincare required 435 for election.

PARIS, JAN. 17.

M. Poincare, the Premier, has been elected Republican candidate for the French Presidency.

The final figures of the ballot were: Poincare, 483 votes; Pams, 296; and Vaillant, 69.

DUEL AVERTED.

LONDON, JAN. 17.

The announcement of the result of the ballot at Versailles was received with enthusiastic general cheering. M. Poincare's success was due to the transfer of votes previously given to M. Pam.

The dispute between M. Poincare and M. Clemenceau was based on a misunderstanding, and has been settled.

A second madman, faultlessly attired in evening dress, appeared at the Congress in the afternoon, and announced that he was a candidate for the Presidency, and wished to make a speech. He was removed by atttendants.

M. POINCARE'S PLEDGES.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

M. Poincare, expressing thanks for his election, said he would maintain against all attacks the interests of national defence, and would preserve the continuity of the country's foreign policy.

M. Poincare's return to Paris was marked by triumphant and tumultuous cheering.

It is understood that M. Briand will succeed to the Premiership.

A CHANGE FROM MEDIOCRITY.

The English papers consider the election of the strongest and ablest Frenchman since Gambetta as an indication of the new spirit of confidence in France, which, no longer fearing a coup d'etat, has at length broken the tradition that the President must be a mediocrity.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

The French Cabinet has resigned.

M. BRIAND NEW PREMIER.

LATER.

President Fallieres has asked M. Briand to form a Cabinet.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

The adoption of M. Poincare as Republican candidate for the French Presidency has met with an excellent reception throughout Europe. It is pointed out that he has proved himself a sincere friend of peace, and it is believed that he will play a more active role than his predecessors, in the interests of France and the Triple Entente.

[This is the second occasion on which M. Aristede Briand has accepted the French Premiership. His first tenure of this high post commenced in July 1910 and lasted until M. Poincare took over the reins. M. Briand's rapid rise to this position, after about ten years of Parliamentary life, was mainly due to his conduct of the Bill for the separation of Church and State. In 1911 he dealt with the Labour disorders with a strong hand, and his eventual defeat was due to the defection of the Radical-Socialist party.

M. Briand has been called "The French Lloyd-George," and the two men resemble one another in more than one respect. They are both about the same age, both have been country lawyers, their short but celebrated careers have several points of similarity, and both are of the Gallic race. If Mr. George is a typical Welshman, M. Briand is a typical Breton, and has the courage and perseverance and the reflective habits, allied to the fervid eloquence of the American race.

A reference to the career of M. Poincare will be found in our editorial columns.]

SCENES AT BELFAST.

An effigy of Mr. Asquith, holding the Bill, was cremated at St. Helen's Bay.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, speaking at Birmingham, dwelt chiefly on Home Rule. He said it rested with the people to rescue the country from the gravest situation, which must lead to civil strife and bloodshed.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.

London Jan. 5.—The terms of what is described as the Ulster campaign against Home Rule have been drafted. In these it is asserted that when Home Rule becomes operative a provisional Goverment for Ulster will be established to meet any attempt to enforce the Irish Parliament's authority, passively if possible, but actively if necessary, and to hold control until the election of a Unionist Government, which will, it is expected, amend the Home Rule measure by the omission of Ulster.

INDIAN STUDENTS.

Article in a Scottish Review.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

The Edinburgh Review contains an article by Mr. F. H. Brown on the subject of Indian students in Great Britain. He holds that great injury has been done abroad to the interests of Indian culture by long years of neglect of the problems with which the India Office is now grappling. The standard of Indian education should be so raised that youths may find their facilities capable of yielding opportunities not inferior, save perhaps in a few specialised directions, to those open to their contemporaries studying abroad.

Happily, he says, the need for such improvement in Indian education, particularly on the side of moral training, has been steadily kept in view by Sir Harcourt Butler. The good of India must be the guiding motive of any regulating action. Indians going abroad for education should be encouraged to select Britain rather than other countries, so that they may have every opportunity of imbibing the spirit underlying British rule—the spirit which has brought India to a new birth and a larger and ever expanding life.

NEW PERSIAN CABINET.

Favourable Impression Created.

TEHERAN, JAN. 17.

The new Cabinet creates a favourable impression. According to a statement of the Treasurer-General, the revenue from the Northern Customs has been so satisfactory that all current financial obligations towards Russia have been met, including the repayment of advances made in 1912.

HEROISM UNSUNG.

Sir George Turner's Work Among Lepers.

ANOTHER FATHER DAMIEN.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

LONDON, JAN. 19.

The Times in a column headed "Another Father Damien," describes the career of Sir George Turner, who was formerly a medical officer in the Transvaal. Sir George received his knighthood on January 1st, 1913.

The Times reviews his services to the Transvaal and the cause of humanity, which, it says, were never adequately recognized, except by the very few."

It says he saved Cape Colony millions of pounds by his researches in connection with rinderpest, and also pays a tribute to his work during the typhoid epidemic in the Transvaal after the South African war.

After discovering himself to be a leper, owing to his untiring devotion in the leper settlement in the Transvaal, he worked unswervingly to find a remedy for the disease. He has been living in seclusion in Devonshire for the last two years.

ROYAL RECOGNITION.

Recently his case came to the knowledge of the King, on whose initiative Sir George was included in the New Year's Honours.

The Times ventures to think that something is still owing to him from the Dominion he served so well. He has already lost the use of his left arm. The Times believes, the South African Government is considering an increase in his slender pension, which is his sole support.

LONDON, JAN. 18.

Communication between the wrecked liner "Veronese" and the shore was interrupted yesterday, but was restored by means of a breeches-buoy in the evening, and the work of rescuing the 170 people still on board was resumed.

Seas are breaking over the ship, which is pounding on the rocks, and attempts at rescue by means of boats are fruitless.

OPORTO, JAN. 18.

The life-line with the wrecked liner "Veronese" is again working, and ninety of those on board have been saved. The lifeboats are standing off.

LATER.

THE AGRA MURDER TRIAL.

Committal of Clark and Mrs. Fulham.

ARREST OF MOHAN.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

AGRA, JAN. 18.

Mr. Ormerod delivered his committal order in the case regarding the alleged murder of Mrs. Clark, this afternoon.

Before he did so, Lieutenant Clark, the accused, informed the Magistrate that he did not now want to call Captain Dunn, R.A.M.C., as his witness, because the cost would be very heavy. The Magistrate recorded Clark's request.

Both Mrs. Fulham and Clark showed signs of emotion while the Magistrate was reading his order which covered forty-one pages of typewritten matter. The salient points were as follows:—

The Magistrate, referring to Mrs. Fulham's statement, observed that she had described her falling in love with Clark, and said he had spoken of doing away with his wife on several occasions. She said that Clark had got hold of Budhu and bribed him and two other men to strangle Mrs. Clark whilst asleep. She said that after this, Budhu had brought two men to her house on the evening of Mrs. Clark's murder, and then the plan was made that Budhu should enter Clark's house to keep the dog quiet, whilst the other two men were to strangle Mrs. Clark, and rummage things about to make it appear that thieves had visited the house. She said the bribe was Rs. 100, which had been paid by Clark. Budhu's confession showed that Clark and Mrs. Fulham had arranged the attack on Mrs. Clark, and that Clark's return from the railway station to his house on the night of the murder was before the actual murder took place. Kathleen Fulham's evidence showed that Clark had in advance arranged to return to Mrs. Fulham's house, to which he came at 3 a.m. after the murder. Clark's action on returning home, and the steps he took in getting medical help and in going to Major Buchanan, were in order to make out that he was an innocent person, who had just heard of a brutal attack made on his wife, whilst he had unluckily been seeing a friend off at the station. There was good prima facie evidence that Clark and Mrs. Fulham had had Mrs. Clark attacked, the attack resulting in Mrs. Clark's death the day after it was made. There was similarly a good prima facie case made out that Budhu, Ramlal, Budha Kanjar and Sukha, together with another man, had committed the actual murder. The actual blows appeared to have been dealt by a man, who had not yet been arrested.

THE POISONING CHARGE.

"I may note also," said the Magistrate, "as regards Ramlal, that he swooned away when Budhu was telling the story of how the men with him had threatened to kill him with a sword, if he did not give them money. This was just before the party arrived at Clark's bungallow on the night of the murder. I have not charged any of the accused (Clark, Mrs. Fulham and Budhu) in regard to the poisoning of Mrs. Clark, as I was not satisfied that the point could be tried jointly with the circumstances leading to the actual attack on Mrs. Clark, especially as Ramlal, Budha, Kanjar and Sukha had had nothing to do with any attempt to kill her by poison. There is good prima facie evidence, however, of the administration of poison to Mrs. Clark. That can be considered by the Hon. High Court, and a separate case can be instituted, or an additional charge be framed on that point, if it is held that the matter of poisoning can be tried jointly with the matter concerning Mrs. Clark's death. Clark says that on the night of the murder he went home and was let in by his daughter, who told him what had happened. His tale from that point agrees in the main with what Miss Clark said. He says, however, that she looked at the time-piece on the table and said it was five minutes past one at the time he returned home after getting medical help. He went to Mrs. Fulham's first, and then went for Major Buchanan. Clark says his dog was in the hall when he reached home from the station. His daughter has not told the truth in saying that she did not see the dog. Further Clark says that Budhu has lied in his confession, and denies knowing anything about the powder Harry Clark (his son) deposed to. As regards Mrs. Fulham's statement on December 14th, Clark says she made it when she was annoyed with him, and she has not told the truth about what occurred in her house."

The magistrate's finding was as follows:—There is a good prima facie case against Clark and Mrs. Fulham in respect of the charge framed under sections 302 and 109, I.P.C., and against Budhu, Ramlal, Sukha and Budha in respect of the charge under section 302, I.P.C., framed against them. I accordingly commit all the accused for trial under section 213 (I), Criminal Procedure Code, to the Hon. High Court at Allahabad.

In the Clark Murder Case, the absconding accused, Mohan, who it is alleged by the accused, Budha, delivered the blows with a sword which killed Mrs. Clark, was arrested this evening by the police near Achnera, where he was in hiding. He was put amongst a crowd in the court compound, after which the accused Budhu was brought from the lock-up to identify him. Budhu identified him. Mohan is a sturdy, youth, about 18 years of age. He will be formally charged in due course.

THE VICEROY'S CONDITION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DELHI, JAN. 18.

A bulletin issued at Viceregal Lodge, at 8-30 a.m. to-day, states:—

The neuritis reported a few days ago in the Viceroy's right arm is improving. His Excellency's general condition is quite satisfactory.

DELHI, JAN. 19.

The following bulletin was issued from Viceregal Lodges at 8-30 a. m. to-day:—His Excellency the Viceroy, health is improving. The large wound on the back is the only one remaining to heal over.

The Private Secretary to H. E. the Viceroy wired to the President of the public meeting, Bombay:—"Many thanks for message of simpathy sent by the inhabitants, which will be laid before Viceroy on his recovery. I am sure he will greatly appreciate it."

A monster public meeting of a thoroughly representative character was held this evening at Savantvadi, under the presidency of Rajabahadur Sar Desai Saheb, to express its abhorrence and detestation at the dastardly attempt on the lives of their Excellencies Lord and Lady Hardinge, at Delhi. Indignant speeches were made and resolutions passed, condemning the outrage and expressing thankfulness for the preservation of their Excellencies. The president was authorised to communicate the resolutions to their Excellencies.

THE BENGAL COUNCIL.

Legislative Programme of the Session.

COTTON GAMBLING.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 18.

At the first meeting of the Bengal Council yesterday, Mr. Surendranath Banerjea moved a resolution expressing horror at, and detestation of, the Delhi outrage. In the course of his speech, he said that indignation was intensified by the fact that the arm of the assassin should be uplifted against one of the most illustrious of Indian Viceroys, who by private work and public virtues had enthroned himself in the hearts of the people of India. If his Excellency the Viceroy had not been imbued with the immemorial tradition of the British rule in India there would have been a set-back in the beneficial policy which had received added impulse since the visit of his Majesty.

Mr. Norman McLeod supported the resolution on behalf of the mercantile community, and drew attention to the Hon. Mr. Marshall Reid's speech in the Bombay Council. He said it was beyond the bounds of belief that the Delhi and similar outrages could take place in the midst of a crowd, and yet no one come forward to denounce the miscreant. They had heard all round of the sins of the police, a deserving and much maligned body, but not a word of the sins of the people; and he had read and heard of sympathy unveiledly expressed for the most cold-blooded murders. As long as that attitude existed, and apathy was displayed by the public, how could reasonable men admit the psoibility of giving an equal voice to the people in the administration of the country.

The Maharaja of Burdwan and others supported the motion, which was carried unanimously.

BILLS FOR THIS YEAR.

In opening the Council H. E. the Governor made a lengthy speech. After welcoming the members his Excellency gave a detailed account of the changes that had been made in the Council regulations, especially those affecting this province. His Excellency next gave an idea of the legislative measures to be enacted during the present year. Eight bills would be brought forward:—(1) the Public Demands Recovery Bill, relating to the recovery of arrears of land revenue; (2) The Board of Revenue Bill, reducing the number of members of the Board of Revenue from two to one; (3) the Calcutta Burial Boards Bill, appointing separate boards to superintend burials of Christians and Mahomedans; (4) the Laws Bill, assimilating the Statute Law of Eastern and Western Bengal; (5) the Calcutta Municipal Loans Bill, remedying defects in the constitution of the Corporation Sinking Fund, (6) the Sanitary Reform Bill, for the employment of sanitary officers in moffusil municipalities; (7) the Chittagong Port Administration Bill and (8) the Cotton Gambling Bill.

In conclusion His Excellency explained the delay in issuing the Cotton Gambling ordinance, and said for this neither H. E. the Viceroy nor the Government of India was responsible, and that it was due to the fact that the Governor had not been willing at first to ask for this exceptional procedure.

A POLICEMAN'S DEATH.

Artilleryman charged with Murder.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, JAN. 18.

The District Judge of Hanthawaddy (Rangoon) to-day resumed the hearing of the charge of the murder of Sunder Singh, Police Head Constable, which has been brought against Gunner Denmark, R. G. A., who is alleged to have stabled the policeman at Thilawa on December 23rd.

Ameer Hoosein, a resident of Thilawa and his father Moosajee, contractor, gave evidence to having seen the accused on December 23rd stab the deceased with a clasp knife. Accused first struck at Ahmid Khan, Sub-Inspector, who warded off the blow, and, the deceased running up, the accused stabbed him. Both witnesses identified the accused at the Thilawa police guard-room, and also in Court.

Captain Saigol, I. M. S., Police Surgeon, deposed to the death of Sunder Sing being due to peritonitis, consequent on a wound in the abdominal cavity, caused by a sharp weapon such as a clasp knife.

Bahoist Doobs, Police Constable, who went to arrest the four soldiers, and Police Constable Attah Mahomed, also identified the accused as the assailant of the deceased.

Mr. J. Ommaney, D. S. P., who conducted the enquiry and identification parade, swore to the accused's identification by Amir Hooseir.

Further evidence will be recorded on Tuesday.

CO-OPERATION IN BENGAL.

Principles that Succeeded in England.

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 19.

The fifth provincial conference of the Co-operative Societies in Bengal was held yesterday. H. E. the Governor in opening the Conference welcomed the members, and said that the aim of the Conference was really to secure a parliament of the people.

The societies in towns, H. E. the Governor said, did much, but in a country like India it was around the village societies that their main interest must be centered. In Bengal they adhered very closely to those principles which had been the foundation of success in England, of co-operative credit, and so long as they stood to those principles they were bound to succeed in the villages of Bengal. His Excellency advised them to depend upon State aid just as little as they depended on it in financial matters.

In conclusion his Excellency said:—"In the administration of Bengal the solution of the great problems, which mostly affect the people of the country, whether they concern water supply or sanitation or fighting malaria, depends on local effort. But in those we are handicapped by want of village institutions. Still, I hope I am right in forseeing that in the future these societies will take the place of the old village institutions which once existed in India, and I am sure I am right in thinking that if they do so there will be a great change for the better in the administration of the country. I almost envy you your opportunities of bringing about this great change, and you can depend upon me to give you all assistance and encouragement in my power to carry on your work."

Address from the Women of India.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JAN. 18.

At the invitation of Lady Pentland, a preliminary and informal meeting of ladies was held in Government House, when plans were discussed for associating the women of the Madras Presidency with the movement on foot to present Lady Hardinge with an address of admiration and congratulation from the women of India.

The following are the terms of the address:—"Women of India, representing all communities, unite in the wish to express their horror at the grievous crime, which by merciful Providence was frustrated. They tender their heartfelt congratulations on the escape of your Excellencies and their earnest prayers that his Excellency's recovery may be speedy and complete enabling him to resume, with hopes undimmed, his labour for the welfare and advancement of India. Their warm sympathy goes out to your Excellency in the bitter time through which you have passed, and they are profoundly impressed by the noble example of fortitude and resourcefulness at the time of supreme trial, which your Excellency has set to women of all races and countries. Such an example, so given commands universal admiration, and all women may share in the sense of pride which your Excellency's exhibition of devoted courage has inspired. The women of India, assembled in meetings held throughout the country and as individuals, ask your Excellency's acceptance of this expression of sympathy and loyal affection, which unites them in fervent good wishes for your immediate relief from all anxiety, and for every blessing in years to come."

NOTES FROM THE PERSIAN GULF.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

BUSREH, JAN. 9.

Since the establishment of the New Turkish Constitution, now nearly four years, nothing has been seen of the many improvements in the town of Busreh which were then spoken of. It was first expected that a thorough check would be kept on all the sources of revenue and Government officials would not have such a free hand in accepting bribes (bukshish) etc.; but in this direction matters have gone worse since the downfall of Abdul-Hamid, and one will rarely find an official who conducts his duties honestly and has a care for the betterment of his country.

In my opinion, the only means left for Turkey to increase her revenues and put a stop to the corruption amongst her officials would be to follow up the system that was first adopted in Egypt, i.e., making an agreement with Britain, or one of the other foreign European powers, to appoint directors over all her Government departments, at least in the larger towns of Mesopotamia, who should have a free hand to make improvements and work up a stronger and more reliable system of administration, whereby good results will ensue. Egypt was not much better than Mesopotamia is now before the British occupation, and one can judge the benefits she has derived from this policy. If this system is adopted by Turkey, her revenues from Mesopotamia alone would increase after the first year three-fold. In Mesopotamia there are large tracts of land which are greatly suited to agriculture, and if an enterprising Government were to help in establishing the means of cultivating them, they would produce much riches. From my experience with the natives, I find that they have great inclination to work and see improvements in their country, but owing to the want of money they are handicapped.

The situation of Busreh is very important, it being the only port of Mesopotamia at the mouth of the Persian Gulf. Here all merchandise for towns on the river and in the interior have to be landed, and transhipped into river steamers which run up to Baghdad. Thence cargo is carried by caravan to the various other towns. The trade of Busreh in general is now gradually progressing, and in the near future, when the Baghdad Railway commences work, the place will be an important centre. Roughly estimated, the population of Busreh and its districts, which extend right up to Fao, at the present moment, amounts to nearly a hundred thousand inhabitants, which comprises about eight thousand Jews, a thousand native Christians (both Turkish subjects), twenty-five thousand Persians, a hundred Turks, and the rest Arabs. Business in buying, selling, money-changing, etc., is principally in the hands of the Jews. A good number of Arabs are date garden owners and the rest, with the exception of a very small number of merchants, and petty shop-keepers, are labourers, and work in the gardens. There are also a few merchants and shopkeepers amongst the Persians. The Europeans, excepting the Consuls of three Powers, i.e., British, Russian and Germany, are engaged in shipping and mercantile trade, of which two-thirds is under British control. There is only one banking corporation doing business in Busreh, i.e. the Imperial Ottoman Bank, which since its establishment now nearly nine years, has done a good business. It has come to my knowledge that on the last balance sheet of this Bank, the net profits amounted to T £10-11,000. I think Busreh is in need of other Banking corporations, and it would be of great advantage to the English traders were a bank to open out here which should be entirely under British control, as now all business is conducted through the Imperial Ottoman Bank, who have a free hand in the money market.

The Germans, who handle a great deal of the grain business, are, without opposition, trying their utmost to gain a firm footing in Busreh, and I expect in time they will prove serious competitors to the British, not only here but in other places on the Persian Gulf and in Mesopotamia. The river navigation is conducted by an Ottoman Company a Persian shipowner, and Messrs. Lynch Brothers, a British firm, the principal shareholders in, and acting as agents for, the Euphrates and Tigris S.N. Co., Ld., who have permission from the Turkish Government to run three steamers only on the Tigris. A new concern—Societe de Transports Fluviaux en Orient—has lately been formed in London, by Messrs. Lynch Brothers in co-operation with the Deutsche Bank, on behalf of the Baghdad Railway Co., who have received a concession from the Turkish Government for transport of all material belongings to the Baghdad Railway. The Society's first tug, the "S.T. Shirin" with two barges in tow fully loaded with railway material sailed for Baghdad on the 7th instant. Besides the above craft, this concern has no other steamers or barges, but it is expected that four tugs and sixteen barges will shortly arrive from England. There has been heavy rainfall here since the 20th December. The roads are consequently in a filthy condition, being quite muddy and very difficult to walk on. If it continues at this rate, the rains will cause serious harm to the grain harvest this season.

The difficulties of the Post Office in the Persian Gulf are aggravated, it would seem, by the peculiarities of the Persian language, which has chosen to invest the word "poost" as colloquially pronounced with considerable ambiguity of meaning. "Post" means a dock or anchorage, "poost" signifies hides, skins or leather, and his also the term for the Post Office. In the speech of the people of the ports, the final "t" is dropped, and the one syllable 'poost' therefore has to do duty in the three capacities. An instance of the confusion that can result from this came to light recently at Linga. A well-known merchant complained that this mails had suddenly taken to missing their destination. After due inquiry it was suggested that the servant who had been entrusted with the letters should be examined. What had he done with the mails given him for those two weeks? "The first week when you told me to carry the letters to the Poost, I went to the shoemakers and was puting them among the 'Poost' (meaning leather and skins) as you ordered, but the man would not let me, and said I should carry them to the 'Poost-e-Buzurg.' By this the shoemaker meant the big Post Office, or the British Post Office as distinguished from the local one. "Well, and what then?" "Why, I took them to the 'Poost-e-Buzurg' (big dock) and threw them in. The first time there was plenty of water, but the next week the water was low, and I had to dig a hole in the sand to put them into." The story does not say whether the letters, which contained several cheques, were ever retrieved from this singular pillar-box.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—The need of a Catholic High School for Bandra, Salsette and Bassein is keenly felt and universally acknowledged.

Now is the time to set a movement on foot for such a project.

His Excellency the Governor of Bombay has shown a great solicitude for the welfare of the Catholic Community, and has given proofs of his kind regard for the people, by allowing them a representative on the Legislative Council; and the appointment has fallen on Dr. D. A. d'Monte, the most popular man of the community.

The people rejoice to find that their beloved Governor has been raised to the Peerage, and if you will allow me to suggest that a Catholic School should be started and named after Lord Sydenham, you will help a deserving movement. This is an opportune movement and a very laudable one, which ought to attract the attention of the Honb. Dr. d'Monte and other leaders of the Catholic community.—Yours, &c.

LATE MR. DANIEL LONGWORTH

It is with regret that we record the death of Mr. Daniel Longworth, senior, of Messrs. Alcock, Ashdown and Co., which occurred on Friday last at St. George's Hospital, Bombay. Mr. Longworth came to this country some twenty years ago as works manager under Messrs. Fraser, Miller and Co., and subsequently, when Messrs. Finlay, Muir and Co., took over the Carnac Iron Works, he continued his engagement with them. A few years later he became sole proprietor of the works. Owing to ill-health, he subsequently retired to Scotland, after selling his interest in the works to Messrs. Alcock, Ashdown and Co. It is nearly ten years since he came back to Bombay and became the manager of the works of that firm at Darracona. He continued to attend to his duties until a week ago, when he had to lay up owing to a severe attack of asthma. He was to have retired in a few months' time. He was 65 years of age, and leaves a wife and family, in Scotland, to deplore his loss.

MORAL CULTURE.

Under the auspices of the Students' Brotherhood, Mr. J. J. Vimadilal delivered a lecure on "Moral Culture" at the Prarthana Mandir on Saturday afternoon. There was nothing in Mr. Vimadilal's discourse that had not already been heard in schools and so often advocated by the apostles of Theosopy, but it was redeemed from mediocrity by the personality of the speaker, and his enthusiasm for his subject. These gave it a new life and importance.

Mr. Vimadilal spoke of the importance of moral culture to students and others alike. Evil thoughts should be eradicated, and good ones only cultivated. He urged the importance of getting rid of rank materialism and welcoming ideas of spiritual life. By working on the spiritual consciousness it would unfold and make for perfection in humanity and attainment of the Kingdom of God.

The Hon. Mr. Justice F. C. G. Beaman, who presided, congratulated the Students' Brotherhood on its excellent work, and expressed his pleasure in presiding over its meetings, where he always heard good and interesting things. He complimented Mr. Vimadalal on his eloquent speech and agreed with him as to the importance of moral culture. He was, however, not in accord with the lecturer's views on the subject, because he considered that they related to abstract theories.

LECTURE ON PHONETICS.

SPORTING NEWS.

BOMBAY RACES.

Many racing habitues, who do not have the good fortune to be members of the Turf Club or other clubs, greeted with satisfaction a little notice of salmon-coloured paper which appeared inside the first page of the racing programme book on Saturday afternoon, as follows:—

"NOTICE.

There is a Refreshment Tent on the Lawn for Members of the Turf Club and their guests and also one for the General Public."

The step taken by the Turf authorities in this matter is one much to be commended. For, those of the general public in the first enclosure, who in common with other mortals, find that a short drink is a great necessity during the course of a warm and dusty afternoon, the necessity has long been felt for something better than the fly-plagued regions of the bar beneath the Grand-Stand. It scarcely added to the pleasures of the day's proceedings to take a long breadth and hold it the while one plunged into the fray and after a scuffle in the gloom amid fleabitten cakes, bar splashings and innumerable bottles, to emerge more or less triumphant with half a "chota" in a glass and the other half soaking into the front of a sadly messed waistcoat. How much more pleasant the surroundings of the lawns!

There was a larger programme than ever for the Fourth Extra and with eight races to be got through, a start was made at 2-45 with the Arab Pony Consolation Plate. Mr. Lion's Brandy II romped home an easy winner, and the same owner had another winner in the next race, when Salisbury was steered home by Fahad. This horse, with only 38 tickets on it in the Win Tote, produced the handsome dividend of Rs. 198, also paying Rs. 38-8 for a place. Brandy II ran again in the second-last race of the day and made a good race with Mofussil. In the Longfield Plate, Transmigration, a horse which has won plenty of good races in Australia, managed to get his head in first in the straight and kept it there. Those fortunate plungers who held one or more of the 49 tickets in the Win Tote, pulled in Rs. 165 on each. Mr. A. S. Oomer brought in the winner for Rs. 1,850. Again in that sixth race, that old racer, Shawcatt, after leading nearly all the way, got home comfortably and produced another good dividend at Rs. 199. The best place winnings of the day were Rs. 243 on Iron Chest and Rs. 115-8 on Flying Machine.

A new board, on a larger scale than those hitherto exhibited, and placed in a more prominent position, indicated the money given away in the Win and Place Totes.

NEWS LATER THAN THE MAIL

TRADE UNION BILL.

The following news later than the mail, appears in the Australian papers :—

London, Jan. 5.

A conference of 500 delegates representing 2,000,000 trade unionists was held yesterday.

Mr. A. Henderson, M.P., (Labour), moved the adoption of a joint board's report recommending the acceptance of the Trade Union Bill, under protest, as an instalment. He urged that the power given in the Bill should be used for strengthening the Labour Party's position, so that when the minorities were converted the trade unionists could go with a united front to Parliament and obtain a reversal of the Osborne judgment.

Mr. Stephen Walsh, M.P., (Labour), seconding the motion, declared that the Bill restored in a very full and substantial degree the position by the Laborites held before the Osborne judgment was delivered.

Mr. Stuart, (Postmen's Federation), said if the Bill were accepted, the Government would not reverse the Osborne judgment. Labour was always getting instalments, but never its full demands.

Mr. Smillie, (Miners' Federation), feared that the acceptance of instalments would retard the reversal of the Osborne judgment for many years. The Bill proved that the Government distrusted the Labour Party.

The motion was carried by 346 votes to 76.

A CHICAGO ROBBERY.

Chicago, Jan. 4.

Last night four bandits smashed the window of a jeweller's shop and secured a tray of valuable diamonds. A policeman attempted to attack the bandits, but as he was about to draw his revolver, a fashionably dressed woman fell into his arms in a pretence at fainting and hampered his movements to such an extent that the thieves were able to escape in a motor car. As the car was being driven rapidly through the city a policeman stopped it, and charged the chauffeur with having been driving furiously. The bandits shot the policeman and vanished.

A BISHOP'S STIPEND.

London, Jan. 4.

Bishop Montgomery has spontaneously relinquished a considerable portion of the stipend received by him for the secretaryship of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. He has taken this step in consequence of a decrease in his family expenditure.

SOUTH AFRICAN POLITICS.

Capetown, Jan. 4.

Mr. Christian De Wet has resigned from the South African Defence Committee. His resignation is attributed to Mr. Louis Botha's action in declining to reconsider the matter of reinstating Mr. Hertzog in the Ministry.

TAXI-CAB STRIKE.

London, Jan. 5.

The strike of taxi-cab drivers at Liverpool, as a protest against the action of the employers in raising the price of petrol has been settled. The drivers have accepted a cheaper and lower grade of petrol.

The London and North-Western Railway Company has appointed a conciliator-in-chief to hear the grievances of its employees.

SPANISH UNREST.

London, Jan. 4.

The Madrid correspondent of the "Evening Standard" asserts that there are ominous reports that the revolutionaries are planning to effect a great coup by means of a general strike. An emissary of the revolutionaries was recently expelled from France, after he had collected thousands of francs. He had also been on a collecting trip to England.

BANK OF INDIA.

The thirteenth annual report of the Bank of India states:—

The net profit for the year 1912 including Rs. 1,41,021-7-8 brought forward, amounts to R. 5,63,627-14 8. An ad-interim dividend at the rate of 6 per cent per annum was paid for the half year ended 30th June which absorbed Rs 1,50,000-0-0 ; the directors now propose:—To pay a final dividend for the half year ended 31st December 1912 at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum free of income tax, which will amount to Rs. 1,50,000-0-0 to place the reserve fund (increasing that fund to five lakhs, Rs. 2,00,000-0-0 ; to grant a bonus of one month's salary to the banks staff Rs. 9,000-0-0 ; to carry forward to the next account Rs. 54,627-14-8; total Rs. 5,63,627-14-8. During the year the Articles of Association were altered with the view to enlarge the powers of the Board with regard to the investment of the funds of the Bank. It is gratifying to note that these changes have enabled the bank to keep its funds better employed and have contributed towards the satisfactory result of the year's working.

The average bank rate for the year was again very low, being a small fraction only over 5 per cent. Money, however, was in fair demand during the greater portion of the period under review, whilst during the last few weeks the demand was good, and the prospects of the current year are encouraging. Under the schems of compromise between the Bombay Cotton Manufacturing Co., Ld., and its creditors the Bank has received from the Official Trustee six annas of its claim in 5 per cent. cumulative preference shares of the Bombay Cotton Manufacturing Co., Ld., of the par value of Rs. 1,93,850 and 9 1-4 annas have been paid in cash. The small balance outstanding will be adjusted as soon as the appeal pending between the company and Rajah Bahadur Shivlal Motilal has been disposed of. The Directors are also pleased to state that within the next few days a large payment in further reduction of the debt due by the Tricumdas Mills Co., Ld. (in liquidation) to the Bank will be made by the Official Liquidator, and they have no doubt but that the balance that will still be outstanding will be paid in full in due course. During the year Mr. R. D. Tata resigned his seat on the Board, and Mr. R. J. Tata was appointed in his place. The Hon'ble Sir Sassoon David, Bart. and Sir Cowasjee Jehangir, Bart., vacate their seats on the Board by rotation, but are eligible for re-election.

LAW INTELLIGENCE

THE HIGH COURT.

UNJUSTIFIED ATTACHMENT.

Bailiff takes Possession of Mortgaged Shop.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

The case in which (1) Messrs. Sulleman Husein, (2) Dada Husein Totlik and Co., and (3) Bhowndas Vermal and Co., all merchants of Bombay, carrying on business, the first two at the Cutlery Bazaar and the third at Barbhaya Moholla, sued (1) Walter Charple and (2) Arnold Charpie, carrying on business under the style of G. A. Charple and Co., at Murzban-road, Fort, for a declaration that the defendants had wrongfully levied an attachment on a shop, and for an order on the defendants to have the attachment raised and also an order on the defendants to pay the plaintiffs such sum by way of damages as the Court might deem fit, was decided by Mr. Justice Macleod of the Bombay High Court, in favour of the plaintiffs, who received Rs. 500 as damages, and all costs from the defendants.

The plaintiffs said that by a mortgage dated 10th February 1912, made between Ahmed Haji Sulleman Cassum Ali Mahomed and Abdul Sacoor Ali, on the one part, and the plaintiffs on the other part, Ahmed Haji Sulleman, Cassum Ali Mahomed and Abdul Sacoor Ali Mahomed mortgaged to the plaintiff all and singular, the goods, stock-in-trade, articles, effects, furniture, books of accounts and property in their two shops, to secure payment of Rs. 31,620. The plaintiffs were in possession of the shops since 1st January 1912. The sum still due was Rs. 12,442. On the 8th August 1912, the defendants obtained an attachment levied on one of the shops, though it was pointed out that no attachment could be levied on the shop as the order was to attach the goods of the defendant in the suit. The bailiff forcibly took possession of the shop and it was locked up.

The defendants said that the mortgage had never been registered. They had no notice of the mortgage. The application for attachment was made "bona fide." They denied that the plaintiffs were in possession of the shop at the time of attachment. Even if the plaintiffs were in possession, there was nothing to give notice thereof to the defendants or to the bailiff. The defendants said that subsequent to the levying of the attachment, the plaintiffs, whose solicitor had come to their assistance, had hung a notice out from a window on the first floor above the shop, purporting to give notice that the shop was in possession of the plaintiff. The defendants denied that it had been pointed out to the bailiff before he attached the goods in the shop, that the shop was in plaintiffs' possession as mortgagees. They disclaimed responsibility for the forcible possession taken by the bailiff.

Mr. Strangman for the plaintiffs characterised the case as one of aggressive trespass, and wanted substantial damages.

Mr. Justice Macleod held that there was no excuse for the defendants to levy attachment when the mortgage deed and signboards had been shown to them. There all showed possession by plaintiffs. The bailiff had levied the attachment at defendants' request. Next day the plaintiff's locks were broken off and inventories taken. The mortgagees were able to enter into possession only when they got an order from the High Court. If the defendants had paid some damages and admitted the mistake, the plaintiffs might have stopped there.

It was quite clear that the case was for damages—of course not heavy damages—but it was a case in which the Court must express its opinion of the conduct of the defendants by awarding something more than nominal damages. His Lordship granted Rs. 500 as damages with costs ; interest to run on costs only.

Messrs. Strangman, Raikes and Inverarity, instructed by Messrs. Payne and Co., appeared for the Plaintiffs ; Messrs. Weldon and Campbell, instructed by Messrs. Little and Co., for the defendants.

ACQUITTAL IN MURDER CASE.

Keshavlal Uttam and Virma Virsang, the first a patidar and the second a thakurdar, of the village of Vasna Kelia, in Dholka taluka, Ahmedabad district, were charged with the murder of a goldsmith, one Dahya Chhagan of the same village. The first accused had throttled Dahya, while the second accused had held him fast by his legs. They were committed by the First Class Magistrate of Ahmedabad.

On 17th June 1912, the first accused, Keshavlal, lodged a criminal complaint of cheating against the deceased, Dahya, in the Magistrate's Court at Dholka, alleging that the goldsmith had dishonestly pledged suspicious ornaments with him and obtained a loan from him of Rs. 1,900 in cash and a guarantee from one Chaturbhuj Raghunath for the payment of Rs. 500 more. Keshavlal cited as his witnesses Patil Damudar Harjivan, Danal Poona, Nathalal Nagar and Bhaga Raji. Dahya pleaded not guilty and said that Keshavlal Davar and Damodar had conspired to mulct money from him and his sister, as they and others had lost some money in another matter. Dahya left the village, but he was asked to come back to Vasna. Dahya Ambaram first went to Keshavlal's sister at Kamj and then to Chanchal, where he met the goldsmith and advised him to return to Vasna. Chanchala appreciated the insincerity of Dahya, rebuked him and advised her brother not to go with him. Chanchal and her brother went to Ahmedabad and engaged, counsel, and deceased Dahya Chhagan went to Bhasna alone. Dahya Ambaram, a boy of 17 (deceased being aged 20) one day induced Dahya Chhagan to go to a friend to eat fresh "puskn." There, Keshav caught hold of the goldsmith, Dahya Chhagan, and asked him to give a straight reply in respect of the money in dispute, or he would kill him. Keshav at once felled the deceased and throttled him, while Virma held deceased's legs, Keshav throttled deceased, removed the ornaments on his body, and gave some to Virma as his remuneration, and one gold button to Dahya for his trouble. The body was buried late at night.

At the Sessions trial, at Ahmedabad, the jury found both the accused, Keshavlal and Virma, not guilty. The Judge, Mr. C. N. Mehta, disagreed with the unanimous verdict of the jury, and referred the case to the High Court of Bombay.

Dahya Ambaram had become an approver and Virima had confessed.

Their Lordships—Mr. Justice Heaton and Mr Justice Rao, after hearing Mr. Inverarity for the accused, said that the case presented to them considerable difficulty. The Court could not say that the general evidence presented those salient characteristics which were commonly to be observed where a case had been got up. Still, there where indications of influences, deliberately, and possibly dishonestly, adverse to the accused, and there were elements both of strength and weakness in the case, and the Appeal Court had no opportunity of observing the behaviour of the witnesses as the lower Court had had and of making out the truth or falsehood of the evidence. The jury, composed of five gentlemen, had unanimously held the accused to be not guilty. The jury had had the advantage of seeing the witnesses and had heard the evidence in the original Court. The Appeal Court had, however, before them, the opinion of the learned Sessions Judge, who with the same advantages had come to a conclusion diametrically opposite to that of the jury.

Their Lordships, however, after giving the case their best consideration, could not say that the guilt of the accused had been proved.

Therefore their Lordships ordered the acquittal and discharge of the two accused.

JAPANESE COMPANY'S SUIT.

On Saturday, Mr. Justice Beaman delivered judgment in the suit filed by the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, Ltd., of Tokyo, carrying on business in Bombay, against the Marwari firm of Shivnarayan Baldeo, yarn merchants, and Mr. C. M. Cama, a yarn broker, for breach of contract in respect of 600 bales of yarn of No. 10, Kurrimbhoy Mills, and asked for damages amounting to Rs. 2,812.

His Lordship characterised some of the defence evidence as perfectly untrustworthy, and got up for the case ; while the evidence of the plaintiff, the manager, Mr. Risuke Furugori, was thoroughly trustworthy from first to last. His Lordship held that the second defendant had come to the plaintiff with the firm offer on June 4. The first defendants had 600 bales of Kurrimbhoy and 600 of David Sassoon to sell, and the onus of proving the honesty of his actions lay with the second defendant.

His Lorship was sorry to say that the evidence of the Marwaris was never worthy of credit, though they were very wealthy and transacted a very large amount of business. His Lordship did not believe a word of the first defendant's evidence. It might be that Kurrimbhoy yarns fetched a slightly higher price than Sassoon products ; but there was a difference between ready and speculative dealings. It was in evidence that the price of Kurrimbhoy yarns was about to rise, and actually rose on the 6th. The Kurrimbhoy Mills had better knowledge and might have refused to sell yarns at a low price. If the evidence of Cama were true, it was substantially true throughout. When Cama telephoned to the first defendant about the acceptance, the latter said it was too late. But in Court the first defendant improved this statement. A respectable broker like Cama could not tell a lie and he had acted honestly. The defence of the first defendant was thoroughly dishonest and he had indeed made the firm offer on 4th June to Cama.

The only question was that of damages. The plaintiff's estimate of the damages, Rs. 2,812, was fair, and he had a right to recover them from the first defendant. The action of the second defendant was honest throughout, and he was not to blame in the affair.

His Lordship then heard arguments about costs. Mr. Davar for the plaintiffs asked that his clients should get their costs from both the defendants and that the first defendant should pay the second defendant's costs.

His Lordship, after hearing the Hon. Mr. Jinna on the other side about costs, decreed the suit in full, Rs. 2,812-8, in favour of the Japanese firm. His Lordship held that the case had arisen entirely out of the stand made by the first defendant. It was virtually admitted that the plaintiff must get his relief from one or the other defendant, but the plaintiff could not help making the second defendant a party to the suit. His Lordship dismissed the plaintiff's suit against the second defendant with costs, but the first defendant was ordered to pay all costs of the second defendant.

PARSEE PRIESTS.

Mabed Ardeshir Dadabhoy Charna, who belongs to one of the nine original priestly families of Udwada, Surat, instituted an action in the Court of the Subordinate Judge of Bulsar, for a declaration to the effect that he was a qualified Parsi priest, and was entitled to perform the "Boe" ceremony in the Udwada fire-temple, and for an injunction restraining the defendants, Makooji Temoolji Mirza and others, from obstructing him in performing the said ceremony during his tenure of the office; also to recover Rs. 50 as damages.

The lower Court dismissed the suit, holding "inter alia," that it had not been proved that the plaintiff's grandfather was the "palak" of Jamshed Manek Unarna, as the plaintiff alleged, and that the right to perform "Boe," if any existed, had become extinguished by reason of the plaintiff's ancestors having permanently ceased to reside in Udwada for nearly six hundred years, and having failed to exercise that right, and to share in marriage and "Navar" (wheat) for generations.

The plaintiff appealed to the Court of Small Causes at Surat.

Defendants 1, 3, and 5 filed cross-objections.

The appeal was disposed of in favour of the plaintiff-appellant, it being held that there was no positive evidence on either side to show whether the plaintiff's great-grandfather and his ancestors engaged the office or no. It was further held that the members of the nine priestly families inherited simply the right to qualify for the priesthood and to qualify for the office in question. The plaintiff was made "samel" (admitted) and he had brought the suit within six years, from the denial of his rights. The judge in his decision said : "The decree of the lower court is therefore reversed, the injunction is granted, and the costs must abide the results of this appeal and the defendants must pay the plaintiff's costs in both courts."

As to damages, the plaintiff's claim was disallowed.

THE POLICE COURTS.

MOLESTING A WOMAN.

At the Mazagon Police Court, before Mr. Frank Oliveira, Inspector R. R. Mirza, of the B. B. and C. I. Railway Police, charged three Mahomedans named Vazier Mahomed, Bachu Abdulla and Safdar Pirbux with robbery. Mr. Vicaji F. Vicaji and Mr. Kanuga, pleaders, were for the defence.

Hansibai, a witness, said that at about 2 p. m. on the 22nd December, she left home with her daughter Hanifa (17) for Baudra to make offerings at a mosque. Hanifa was wearing ornaments of the value of about Rs. 2,000.

On the way to the Grant-road station they encountered the two accused, who started to follow and abuse them. They took no notice till the second accused seized of the old woman by her hand and told her that the men with him were "budmashes," and would continue to molest her if she did not pay them Rs. 5. The woman said she had no money. The accused persisted till she gave him four annas. This did not satisfy the men and they continued to trouble her; and twice again received her of a similar sum. Emboldened by their success, small as it was, they now asked the woman for one of the ornaments from the person of Hanifa, and threatened to carry the girl away if she refused. The mother and daughter began to cry, which attracted a number of people. Addressing the crowd, one of the accused said that those who were two Mahomedans would not interfere in what was their private family affair. The crowd thereupon dispersed, and when an old woman among them offered to accompany the mother and daughter, the accused drove her away. Arriving near the station, the victims took to their heels and ran on to the platform, disregarding the man at the gate who demanded their tickets. The three accused who were watching this from the verandah of the station, on seeing the policeman, started to run away but were chased and arrested eight. Annas were recovered from them.

The accused reserved their statements.

The first accused had a record of six and the third of one previous convictions.

His Worship held a "prima facie" case proved, and committed all the accused to take their trial at the ensuing Criminal Sessions of the Bombay High Court.

ENTICING AWAY ANOTHER'S WIFE.

At the Mazagon Police Court, on Saturday last, Mr. P. H. Dastur disposed of a case in which one Suleman Dost Mahomed charged Suleman Changoo with enticing away and detaining his wife, Jainut.

Proceedings in this case had been first instituted so far back as October 1911, when a notice summons and a warrant were issued in turn. After the charge had been framed a year ago, the accused absconded but was eventually arrested and placed before the Court.

The case for the prosecution was that Suleman Dost Mahomed and Jainut were married ten years ago at Rewa and lived for some time in Madanpura. The woman left her husband's protection one night at the instigation of one Joburun, and was taken to the home of the accused, with whom she lived for fifteen days. Accused instigated Jainut to charge her husband with maltreatment and claim separate maintenance. Mr. Pereira, pleader, appeared for the prosecution, while Mr. Chateapati defended the accused.

The defence was that Joburun, out of pity for Jainut, had taken her to the accused, who assisted her by taking her to the Kazi.

His Worship convicted the accused and sentenced him to two months' hard labour.

THEFT ON BOARD A STEAMER

Rao Bahadur Chunilal Setalwad, Third Presidency Magistrate, disposed of a case in which Inspector Flanagan charged Ramakushna Luxmon Desai, a Brahmin, with the theft of jewellery valued at Rs. 5,041,

The complainant, a Hindu lady named Luxmibai Damodar Malvankar, and the accused were fellow passengers on board the ferry steamer "Umrath," which arrived in Bombay on the 11th instant. During the voyage the complainant missed her ornaments, which were in a handbag. The matter was reported to the captain of the steamer, who informed the police on arrival in Bombay. The police searched the accused's boxes and found the ornaments in one of them.

His Worship convicted and sentenced the accused to eighteen months' rigorous imprisonment. His Worship complimented Mr. Flanagan on the way in which he had accomplished the work.

DESERTERS FROM SHIP.

Inspector Gough, on Saturday, charged Kassam bin Steman, quartermaster, Mahomed bin Aji, Din bin Mahal and Ahmed bin Abam, seamen of the crew of the s. s. "Kintail," before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, with deserting their ship.

Mr. B. J. Dhondy, pleader, appeared for Captain R. M. Saunders, master of the steamer.

His Worship sentenced the first accused, who had deserted the steamer thrice before this, to undergo six weeks' rigorous imprisonment, the second one month's and the third and fourth three weeks' rigorous imprisonment.

DR. DE ROOS' MEDICINES HAVE AN UNRIVALLED REPUTATION OF OVER FIFTY YEARS.

DR. DE ROOS'

WORLD-FAMED

GUTTÆ VITÆ

Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This extraordinary rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from premature decay, or deficiency of the vital forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm: the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impurity and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study, or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per Bottle.

DR. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness across the loins, Sandy or other Deposits, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

DR. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. Price 13½d. and 2s. 9d.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

Debilitated and Nervous Sufferers should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. De Roos, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. Lawes, Medical Publisher, 14, Hand Court, Holborn, London, W.C., or of the Agents for Dr. De Roos' Medicines.

DR. DE JONGH'S KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in

CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D., Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL, Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S., Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. CROFT, Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with Betts' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures. WITHOUT THESE MARKS NONE CAN POSSIBLY BE GENUINE.
